

Rockwood Product End-of-Life Recycle Program

ASSA ABLOY encourages environmentally responsible practices for processing and disposing of products that have reached the end of their useful life.

In support of these practices, ASSA ABLOY is announcing the availability of a Product End-of-Life (PEOL) Recycling program on Rockwood products. This free program provides recycling and/or disposal of Rockwood products that have reached the end of their life cycle and are beyond the product's warranty period.

To participate in this program, see the directions below:

- Only Rockwood products may be returned and they must be free from other building materials attached to the products.
- After the RGA has been approved, send products to:
